

Sherry Sayer's brother, Don Goebel, passed away on April 16 at Pikes Peak Hospice after suffering a massive stroke on March 23. Don had been a Falcon Wanderer for many years and enjoyed going on walking trips with Sherry's family, having traveled with them to Crazy Horse, the Dakota Dozen in South Dakota, and the 2007 Sacramento Convention. Don led a very interesting life, having served in both the Army and the Navy, worked overseas in Guam, Greenland, Seychelles, and Saudi Arabia, as well as at the American Embassy in Moscow. He also worked at the Pueblo Army Depot, Vandenberg AFB, the Sunflower Army ammunition plant in Kansas, the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi and Kingsville, Texas, NASA's White Sands Test Facility in New Mexico, and a satellite tracking station in Hawaii. He also worked for United Airlines in Indianapolis and Denver. Don had visited 49 states and 31 countries. He also volunteered for several organizations, serving as treasurer for the Rocky Ford Friends of the Library, as treasurer for a local car club that he enjoyed going on trips with, and as treasurer for the local Chapter of the National Active and Retired Federal Employees (NARFE).
